

HER AGED FATHER TESTIFIES AGAINST ERRING DAUGHTER

Evidence of White-Haired Old Man Wins Son-in-Law
a Divorce.

LOVED 'CAPT. M'KENNA.

Tells How His Child Left Husband for Man "Known as Jack Rose."

Dr. Lawrence Schoonover of No. 115 East Fifty-ninth street, a venerable figure with snow-white hair and mustache, and his face seamed with the lines of care, born of fifty-five years of practising medicine, mounted slowly to the witness stand before Supreme Court Justice Gleeson and told, in a voice that shook with emotion, how he and his wife had brought their daughter, Mrs. Mattie E. R. Parkhurst, to spare them, in their declining days, a public exposure of her relations with Capt.
Jack McKenna, known as "Jack Rose."

"But she was a girl," the aged doctor managed to explain, "so, as the fairest course toward the husband, I whom she had been wedded twenty-three years, her mother and I induced her to sign this confession of her relations with the Captain."

The doctor handed Justice Gleeson a typewritten document that shook pitifully in the dim, delicate old hand that held it.

Dr. Schoonover was the principal witness in the divorce action of his son-in-law, George W. Parkhurst, Secretary of the Consolidated Gas Company, at No.
50 Union Square East, who lives at No.
30 West One Hundred and Eighth street. The Parkhursts were married in 1890 in Brooklyn. Until the latter part of last year they lived happily.

Tells How Parents Pleaded With Daughter.

"Until a month ago," Dr.
Schoonover continued, "the members of our family have held their heads high.
We have been proud of our clean lives and honorable records. What induced our daughter, Mattie, to shame us all I don't know. She began her relations with Capt. Jack McKenna last fall. I told her the first of this year, every time I saw her, I begged her to cease her mode of life."

"One night in November her mother and I went to see her. Both of us pleaded with her—pleaded as if for our very lives.

"Don't shame us in our last days on earth," was our plea, but she turned a deaf ear to us all through the long hour during which we fairly groveled before her.

"She said she could never return to George. We told her she could live apart from him if she wished, but we brought her to leave the place where she was living at Mrs. McKenna. But her heart was hardened. Your Honor, she would not leave McKenna."

SIGNS CONFESSION AT A FAMILY COUNCIL.

So on the night of Dec. 2 she came up to George's house for the last time. Her son, her husband, Charles E.
Parkhurst, an attorney, who has been my lifelong friend, and I were there.
We all begged her once more to leave McKenna and live a decent life by herself. She declined to heed us. Then, at the fairest thing to George, she signed this confession of her love for Capt.
McKenna."

"I don't know where Mattie is living now. She seems to want to keep out of our way as much as possible, and that's only natural, don't you think?"

None of the interested parties to the suit would tell anything of "Capt. Jack McKenna." In Mr. Parkhurst's complaint he is spoken of as "Capt. Mc-Kenna, known as Jack Rose," but they declined to elucidate this strange reference.

Justice Gleeson awarded Mr. Parkhurst his divorce.

KIDNEY REMEDY THAT ACTS LIKE MAGIC

I have been a terrible sufferer for a number of years with kidney and liver trouble, also nervous prostration and health generally poor, constitution entirely run down until life became a burden. I tried physicians and every available remedy but found no relief. Was induced to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial, which acted like magic, and I am happy to say that I believe I am entirely cured and now as good a man as ever.

I believe it my duty to make this public statement that I may help others who may be suffering from the same trouble.
Swamp-Root is without question the greatest remedy in the world. Anyone in doubt of this statement or the authenticity can address me as below.

Yours very truly,
M. H. MCCOY.

Van Wert, Ohio.

State of Ohio,
Van Wert County.

The foregoing statement sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 18th day of July, 1909, by the said
M. H. McCoy.

A. C. GILPIN, Notary Public.

Letter to
Dr. Kilmer & Co.,
